

STEVE CHAMPLIN SCHOLARSHIP

For Undergraduate Geology Students

QUALIFIED APPLICANTS: To be considered for this scholarship, an applicant must be a sophomore, junior, or senior student for the 2020-2021 academic year and enrolled as a geoscience major at a college or university in the Rocky Mountain region. The candidate should have a 2.8 or better overall GPA and demonstrate need for financial assistance.

SOURCE OF FUNDS: In August of 1985 the Wyoming Geological Association established an endowment fund, the Steve C. Champlin Scholarship Fund, to honor the memory and spirit of Steve Champlin, a highly respected exploration geologist in the Rocky Mountains (See AAPG Bulletin, 1985, v.. 69, p. 2150). Interest from this fund is used for the scholarship. Scholarships of $500 to $1,000 have been awarded annually since 1991.

APPLICATIONS: Application forms are posted on the Wyoming Geological Associations website. (www.wyogeo.org) For additional information please contact Dr. Kent A. Sundell, WGA Scholarship Chairman, P. O. Box 1543, Casper, WY 82602, phone number (307) 268-2498 or E-mail - ksundell@caspercollege.edu.

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS: Applications should be submitted (postmarked) no later than March 27th, 2020.

COMPLETING THE ATTACHED FORM: The qualified candidate should fill out and return the application form to the WGA Scholarship Committee, P. O. Box 1543, Casper, WY 82602. The candidate should have at least one letter of recommendation from the department head or any professor knowledgeable of the candidate's past academic performance. A second letter of recommendation from either an academic or industry geoscientist is optional. Do not send more than two letters of recommendation. The candidate will have a recent copy of his/her transcript sent to the WGA Scholarship Committee. Letters of recommendation and transcripts should be received by WGA before April 3, 2020.

SELECTION COMMITTEE: A committee composed of the Wyoming Geological Association Scholarship Chairman and at least two other WGA members will screen applications and select the recipient of the scholarship.

SELECTION DATE: The committee will make its selection by May 15, 2020 and will notify all candidates of the results by letter or Email.

RECEIVING THE AWARD: The WGA will send a check for the recipient to the Geological Science Department Head prior to commencement of the 2020-2021 academic year (late August 2020). Upon the department's verification of registration and attendance of the recipient, the Department Head may present the Champlin Scholarship to the recipient. If the primary recipient fails to register or attend the Fall 2020 semester/quarter the Department Head should notify the WGA Scholarship Chairman and return the check promptly. An alternate recipient will be chosen.
